AYER'S
CHERRY PECTORAL,
For the rapid Cure of
COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS,
BRONCHITIS, WHOOPING-COUGH, CROUP, ASTHMA, AND CONSUMPTION.

THIS remedy ... such notoriety from its cures of every variety of pulmonary disease that it is entirely unnecessary to recount the evidences of its virtues in any community where it has been employed. ... It has long been in constant use throughout this section we need not ... more than assure the people its quality is kept up to the best it ever has been and that the Genuine article is sold in Bangor by G W Emerson, G F Sargent, Guild & Harlow, S P Perkins, W ... and by all other druggists.

AYER'S PILLS,

A new and singularly successful remedy for the cure of all Bilious diseases—Costiveness, Indigestion, Jaundice, Dropsy, Rheumatism, Fevers, Gout, Humors, Nervousness, Irritability, Inflammations, Headache, Pains in the Breast, Side, Back, and Limbs, Female complaints, &c., &c. Indeed, very few are the diseases in which a Purgative Medicine is not more or less required, and much sickness and suffering might be prevented, if a harmless but effectual Cathartic were more freely used. No person can feel well while a costive habit of body prevails, besides it soon generates serious and often fatal diseases, which might have been avoided by the timely and judicious use of a good purgative.

This is alike true of Colds, Feverish symptoms, and Bilious derangements. They all tend to become or produce the deep seated and formidable distempers which load the hearses all over the land. Hence a reliable family physic is of the first importance to the public health, and this Pill has been perfected with consummate skill to meet that demand. An extensive trial of its virtues by Physicians, Professors, and Patients, has shown results surpassing any thing hitherto known of any medicine. Cures have been effected beyond belief, were they not substantiated by persons of such exalted position and character as to forbid the suspicion of untruth.

Among the eminent gentlemen to whom we are allowed to refer for these facts, are

Prof. VALENTINE MOTT, the distinguished Surgeon of New York City.

Doct. A. A. HAYES, Practical Chemist of the Port of Boston, and Geologist for the State of Massachusetts.

IRA L. MOORE, M. D., an eminent Surgeon and Physician, of the City of Lowell, who has long used them in his extensive practice.

H. C. SOUTHWICK, Esq., one of the first merchants in New York City.

C. A. DAVIS, M. D., Sup't and Surgeon of the United States Marine Hospital, at Chelsea, Mass.

Did space permit we could give many hundred such names, from all parts where the Pills have been used, but evidence even more convincing than the certificates of these eminent public men is shown in their effects upon trial.

These Pills, the result of long investigation and study, are offered to the public as the best and most complete which the present state of medical science can afford. They are compounded not of the drugs themselves, but of the medicinal virtues only of Vegetable remedies, extracted by chemical process, in a state of purity and combined together in such a manner as to insure the best results. This system of composition for medicines has been found in the Cherry Pectoral and Pills both, to produce a more efficient remedy than had hitherto been obtained by any process. The reason is perfectly obvious. While by the old mode of composition, every medicine is burdened with more or less of acrimonious and injurious qualities, by this, each individual virtue only that is desired for the curative effect is present. All the inert and obnoxious qualities of each substance employed are left behind, the curative virtues only being retained. Hence it is self-evident the effect should prove as they have proved more purely remedial, and the Pills a surer, more powerful antidote to disease than any other medicine known to the world.

As it is frequently expedient that my medicine should be taken under the counsel of an attending Physician, and as he could not properly judge of a remedy without knowing its composition, I have supplied the accurate Formula by which both my Pectoral and Pills are made to the whole body of Practitioners in the United States and British American Provinces. If however there should be any one who has not received them, they will be promptly forwarded by mail to his address.

Of all the Patent Medicines that are offered, how few would be taken if their composition was known! Their life consists in their mystery. I have no mysteries.

The composition of my preparations is laid open to all men, and all who are competent to judge on the subject, freely acknowledge their convictions of their intrinsic merits. The Cherry Pectoral was pronounced by scientific men to be a wonderful medicine before its effects were known. Many eminent Physicians have declared the same thing of my Pills, and even more confidently, and are willing to certify that their anticipations were more than realized by their effects upon trial.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting wherever they exist such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Being sugar wrapped they are pleasant to take, and being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

For minute directions, see the wrapper on the Box.

Prepared by JAMES C. AYER, Practical and Analytical Chemist, Lowell, Mass.

PROFESSOR ALEX. C. BARRY'S
or Medicated Compound,

FOR beautifying, improving, and preserving the Hair, curing scurf and dandruff, bruises, burns, sprains, rheumatism, and all irritations of the skin. A ... which annually, would seem to need no advertising, but as the thousands who purchase use and approve of it, have probably no idea of the enormous extent of the business done by Professor Barry, he gives herewith a plain statement of facts derived from his books and with them indorse his earnest and hearty thanks to his numerous patrons.

Professor Barry's account sales for the year 1852 show that during that year about 930,000 bottles of his Tricopherous were disposed of, and that the cash product of this immense sale was nearly $200,000.

This plain unvarnished tale is a better commentary on the value of the article than any thing the inventor could say. If it were not needless in its effect upon the hair—if it were not invaluable as a household remedy for cuts, bruises, burns, skin diseases, &c.—it would not of course be so universally in demand. The wealthy portion of the community would not, at any price, but Professor Barry has reduced it to a figure so low that the poor can avail themselves of its benefits.

Sold in large bottles [price 25 cents] at wholesale and retail at the manufactory and depot 137 Broadway New York and by the principal merchants and druggists throughout the United States and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France &c.

McFarland's
BURGLAR and FIRE PROOF
SAFES!

A FEW of these celebrated Safes have arrived from New York and those who are in want of a superior article which has been severely tested for the last ten years in every county are invited to call and examine them. Read what the New York Press say of them in regard to the late great fire in New York. Further comment is unnecessary.

[From the Journal of Commerce, of August 27th.]
Messrs. B F Pond & Hitchcock of 56 Water street, oil merchants, inform us that their Safe (one of McFarland's Fire Proof) at the great fire on Tuesday, was exposed for thirteen hours to the combined effects of burning Rosin and other Oils and a broken Gas Pipe directly under it, and it preserved their books and papers in the most perfect order. They were not injured in the least manner.

[From the New York Evening Mirror, of Aug. 27th.]
McFARLAND'S SAFES AT THE LATE FIRE OF THE PEARL STREET HOUSE.—Looking at the ruins of this great fire yesterday we noticed in Water street several of McFarland's Safes, which were being taken out of the ruins the insides of which were all in good order. One of them in particular deserves especial notice. It belonged to Messrs. Pond and Hitchcock, oil merchants, No 56 Water street and was exposed to the very hottest part of the fire having covered with burning oil and spirits, and directly under a broken gas pipe from which the gas was escaping in large quantities and producing an intense heat. It remained in this fiery furnace for thirteen hours and we are informed by Mr. Pond the owner, that when opened his books and papers were found to be in a perfect state of preservation, not even being scorched and hardly bearing the smell of fire. A thus proving itself a perfect salamander. Every merchant should examine them and convince himself of their fire proof qualities, as some half dozen others of the same maker were in the fire under every one preserved its contents from the least damage.

[From the New York Tribune of August 30th.]
The reputation of McFarland's celebrated Fire Proof Safes have lost nothing at the last great fires as usual preserving their contents uninjured, and saving many thousands of dollars for their owners. These safes have built for themselves a colossal reputation and are adding to it at every fire. McFarland's motto is "Excelsior."

[From the New York Herald of Aug 25th.]
Another crowning proof of the superiority of McFarland's Fire Proof Safes over all others as a protection against fire is the Safe which can now be seen at the ruins of the great fire on Tuesday night at the Pearl House where it was exposed in the oil store of Messrs Pond & Hitchcock, 56 Water st. for thirteen hours to the combined effects of burning oil and spirits. Its books and papers were taken out even scorched.

☞These Safes are for sale at No 19 West Market Square, Bangor.

John Bunyan's Immortal Allegory

PROBABLY no book, save the Bible, has been so extensively read as Bunyan's inimitable allegory

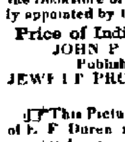

The Pilgrim's Progress.
It has been translated into nearly all the different languages of Christendom and been perused with delight and holy fervor by all nations. Art has lent her attractions in nearly all the forms of Illustration from the rough Wood Cut to the exquisite Steel Engraving. For to the skill of the unwearied century and to an American clergyman, are we indebted for the only pictorial conception of this immortal work.

The novel and sublime idea of embodying the entire story, and transferring the same to a single picture, showing the wanderings of Christian from the 'City of Destruction' to the Celestial City, presenting at one view to the eye the varied scenes through which he passed, originated with Rev DANIEL WIGHT of Massachusetts. His truly original and beautiful conception was tendered to a most elegant design by HAMMATT BILLINGS, and from this design JOSEPH ANDREWS the distinguished historical engraver has produced, after four years of labor, a picture which will take rank among the most superb and elaborate productions of human genius, taste and skill.

The picture is now ready, and will be offered at the Bookstore of the Publishers, and by Agents duly appointed by the Publishers.

MERKLAND, or, Self Sacrifice. By the Author of "Margaret Maitland," &c. N. York. Stringer & Townsend.

This is a handsome volume, making the fifth of the popular "Library of Standard Novels," by Messrs. Stringer and Townsend. It is a brilliant work by a female writer across the water, in which is brought a glow of beauty, a force and power rarely met, and a portraiture evincing the strength of true genius. The story is one which is read with interest, and will be long remembered.

The work may be found at Bugbee's bookstore, on Kenduskeag bridge.

SIMILITUDES FROM THE OCEAN AND THE PRAIRIE. By Lucy Larcom. Boston: John P. Jewett & Co.

This is a neat little volume in good style, prettily illustrated, and contains about forty articles upon various subjects of interest to youthful readers, and all having their similitude, giving a lesson to the inner life, and teaching a moral to the mind and heart, showing that each truth has its interior good.

This agreeable volume may be found at E F Duren's bookstore, near the Post-office.

A Farmer I Once Knew

BY T. M. COOLEY, TOLEDO, OHIO.

I have known in my life a good many farmers of enlarged means, whose sons, after receiving what is commonly called a liberal education, invariably deserted the farm and betook themselves to some other occupation, where they were furnished with constant exercise for the mental faculties. It was not always—not often, perhaps—ambitious views, or even the expectation of larger gains that induced them to desert the farm, but what it was may, perhaps, be best illustrated by drawing a picture of another farmer I once knew.

This man lived upon a small farm in the State of New York, by the industrious working of which he managed not only to earn a support, but also to lay aside a little as well for an unfortunate day, as to supply his family with intellectual enjoyment. His two sons had received some benefit from schools, but as a collegiate education was expensive, the father resolved to do what he could towards educating them in another mode. As his desire was that they should follow the same occupation with himself, it struck him as of primary importance that he should first interest them in that employment and then fit them for it. Though it might be very well for them to spend years in acquiring a knowledge of the dead languages, he thought it still more important that they should become intimately acquainted with the various soils, and with the conditions necessary to the healthy growth of trees and crops, and as life is limited, and knowledge infinite, he thought it good policy that they should first devote their time to that which was of greatest practical value.

It would have done you good to witness the interest which his two boys took in the various pleasant and instructive ... which he directed their attention. No professional student was ever so much delighted with his books, and for the sufficient reason that no other volume ever presented such ... as the great book of Nature unfolds. The unchangeable laws of animal and vegetable life upon which every operation in agriculture is based, were daily exhibiting to them new and beautiful illustrations, and whether it was seed-time or harvest, summer or winter, any labor to which their time was devoted, had for them its peculiar interest.

To their surprise they found many things in an occupation so ... which were still the subjects of experiment. The best time for planting trees, the soil and conditions of soil suited to the different varieties, the best season for cutting timber ... view, the best mode of preserving timber in the ground or out, and a thousand like things appeared to be subjects of dispute, and though of prime importance, to be receiving little or no attention among their neighbors. The habits of the various insect creatures that destroyed their fruits and ravaged their fields, seemed little understood, and, in fact, these young men were frequently astonished at meeting the owners of large orchards who, though they could see their apples, peaches and plums being daily destroyed by insects, were utterly unable to tell whether one or forty different species were the cause, and had never given a moment's attention to ... those insects, and ... means for their destruction. Even the various birds that filled the neighboring woods with their music seemed little known, and some among the most useful of them all, who divided their time between singing and the destruction of noxious insects, were subjects of a class and ridiculous suspicions in the neighborhood, and were slaughtered without mercy on charges the falsity of which might, with a little investigation, have been demonstrated.

The study of these and of kindred subjects made their labors a constant recreation to them. The daily care of the farm was no longer a task to be performed with machine-like stolidity, while the mind was constantly wandering to other avocations, and indulging in longings for something of a more engrossing nature. The care of trees, of crops, and of domestic animals was a perpetual study, full of interest, and lacking the dullness that pervades the task of the professional student, because every day a growth was presenting to their view new phases for contemplation and thought. For the application of the sciences, of the rudiments of which they had made themselves master, they had frequent occasion, and as their minds expanded with the multiform nature of their practical studies, a taste of general literature crept in to add to the pleasures of their home.

And these daily laborers became more thoroughly educated than they would have been by spending years at our higher institutions for public instruction. As their education was of a sound and practical nature, it made them respected everywhere, and their sentiments and opinions won attention in whatever circle they chanced to be. They never had occasion to blush for want of information on subjects with which men in their calling should be familiar, and they never desired to change their occupation, because they could imagine no other so pleasant as that which made them familiar with the green fields and the graceful trees. I indeed believe that either of them took more pleasure in planting some choice tree, and seeing it grow, and blossom, and bear fruit, than they would have taken in all the various entertainments which offer their attractions to the public in large cities.

I cannot say that these young men were ambitious, yet, in their calling, they won for themselves credit, and accomplished more good than they would have been likely to, at the bar or elsewhere. They were the means, in a great measure, of reforming the system of farming in their vicinity, and of imparting such information as added greatly to the productiveness of agricultural labor. They ... their ... and introduced into their ... such valuable varieties as their neighbors had never dreamed of before. They beautified their own home with trees, and flowers, and tasteful arrangement, and in so doing became the occasion of beautifying the homes of farmers all around them. By acquainting themselves with the habits of destructive insects, and devising means to prevent their ravages, by originating new and valuable fruits, and by improvements in agricultural implements they became public benefactors in a wider sphere, and had the satisfaction of seeing the whole country in some degree the better for their labors. Though they never became rich, they were the masters of a competence, and their hospitable home and intelligent conversation attracted the most intellectual society for a large region about them.

I have sometimes thought that if some other farmers I know were to bestow a little attention upon the career of these two young men, they might perceive at once the reason why so many among the most enterprising of farmers' sons seek some other occupation, so soon as they are at liberty to do so. Where the mind is not interested, the hand disdains to labor. He who teaches his sons to work as he would teach the unreasoning ox to bear the yoke, must expect the restless mind to long for that activity elsewhere, which he neglects to incite in his own employment.

A MESSAGE TO MOTHER.—A beautiful girl was wasting away with consumption. This disease has sometimes a strange power to heighten the beauty of the victim on whom it has seized. There was the unwonted brilliancy of her fascinating eye, the ruddy flush on the cheek, the pearly whiteness of the brow, combined with the natural elegance of her form.—The friends that came to see her could scarcely believe that the rosy hue on her cheek was but the hectic flush, and that this brilliancy was only the last flickerings of the lamp of life.—About a year before, this same disease had summoned her mother away to the spirit land.—With the last words spoken by the lovely, affectionate daughter, were mingled expressions of a speedy re-union in the region of eternal day. The last hour of earthly life at last came to that young Christian, sustained by a firm trust in her Savior, she was entering the valley and the shadow of death. Brothers and sisters gathered round in this trying hour, and the struggle was past—yet once more she opened her eyes and spoke to the weeping group, "If any of you have a message for mother, I will carry it to her," and immediately her spirit fled to join the assembly of the spirits of the just made perfect.—Bath Tribune.

Captain McClure, who has verified the existence of a northwest passage, says he has communicated with numerous tribes of Esquimaux who had never seen the face of a white man, and who were the most simple, honest, peaceful people he ever met with, whilst all those who had traded with the English were great reprobates.

The Sandwich Islands.

The news of the Sandwich Islands is highly important. It would seem that a step—and a very decided one—has been taken towards the annexation of the islands to the United States. The Ministry of Dr. Judd has resigned, and has been succeeded by one at the head of which is Elisha H. Allen of this city, a strong annexationist. The following is the new Cabinet, all of whom, we believe, are annexationists:—John Young, Minister of the Interior; R. C. Wyllie, Minister of Foreign Relations; Elisha H. Allen, Minister of Finance; Richard Armstrong, Minister of Public instruction.

Judging from the reports which have come to hand through the California papers, which are favorable to annexation, the change of Ministry has been very acceptable to the foreign residence of the island.

The English and French Consuls had issued a written Protest against annexation, and Hon. Luther Severance of Augusta, in this State, the American Commissioner, has replied to this protest, in a temperate yet firm document. After remarking that the Government of the United States has never made any proposition to His Majesty to annex the Island, he says it is not surprising that the "merchants and landed proprietors," whether American or others, should perceive great commercial advantages in such a connection. He sees nothing extraordinary therefore, in the movement, and "if now or at any future time it shall be found to be decidedly for the interest of both countries to unite their sovereignties, I am unable to perceive any treaty or moral obligations on the part of either to forbid the desired union, or any good reason for foreign interference to prevent it."

Mr. Severance then argues the right of a nation to cede or acquire territory, and shows that it is regarded as inherent in all independent sovereignties and has been practiced from time immemorial. He says:

"The expediency of union with the United States I do not propose to consider at present, for I have no authority to say that the United States will consent to any terms that may be offered; yet I have no doubt if they shall be offered they will be frankly received and duly considered; but no sinister means of accomplishing the object, however desirable, will receive any favor from the United States."

Referring to the agreement or joint declaration of the 28th of November, 1843, that neither Great Britain or France would take possession of the Islands as a protectorate or otherwise, he says that it was creditable to the parties, who had both made hostile demonstrations against the Islands. But neither the government of the United States nor the King of the Sandwich Islands were parties to it, and the former power had constantly respected the government of the King. The United States were the first to recognize the complete and unqualified national independence of the Kingdom, by the treaty of 20th December, 1840. That treaty having been faithfully observed, there is nothing in the policy of the United States towards these islands which requires concealment, or demands explanation—nothing to disturb the harmony which happily exists between the United States and the great commercial powers of Europe.

☞ The very handsome manner in which the foreign despatch of the news by the steamship America was put through by telegraph from Halifax to Boston has been commented upon by the press. The entire despatch passed, without being repeated, from Halifax to Boston. The touch of the key of the instrument at Halifax caused a simultaneous click in every office on the Halifax, the New Brunswick, the Maine and the Portland and Boston lines, and probably on the Fredericton and Quebec lines. The news was taken off at St. John, Bangor, Portland, and at Boston at the same moment, and published simultaneously in all those cities and in all the great cities south as far as New Orleans. Such is the facility afforded by the magnetic telegraph. It is very pleasant thus to spread intelligence over the country, and to be able to tap the stream, at several points, without diminishing its quantity or speed. It is a proud satisfaction that here in Bangor we may give our readers important intelligence at the same hour it is given in the great cities and centres of business. But to do this involves an expenditure of money, a fact which probably never occurred to those estimable men of wealth, who, instead of paying about a cent a day for a paper delivered every morning at their door, prefer to nose round among their neighbors who are willing to pay for a daily paper, to get the news! The fact is, we are willing to work hard for small pay in furnishing news, and we do like to realize that our efforts are appreciated and sustained by those who are abundantly able, and who are as anxious to get hold of the news as are their neighbors.

☞ There was a great out-pouring of rain on Sunday night and Monday morning, making a great freshet in the river and streams, flooding the streets, washing embankments and caving away gullies. It was one of the most copious rains experienced here for a long time, and we shall probably hear of the destruction of bridges in many places in the interior.

The great rise in the water of the river some seven feet, will greatly expose large quantities of logs near Sunkhaze and at other points, to be swept away.

☞ We learn that the dam at Messrs. Pendleton & Ross' mill on Kenduskeag stream is in danger of being carried away by the freshet.—If this dam gives out it is feared that a clean sweep will be made through all the mills to the river.

DEATH OF JUDGE LOCKE. We announce with sincere regret, the death of Hon. Joseph Locke, of this city, which took place at his residence on Chapel Hill last night. The deceased was for many years the presiding Justice of our Police Court, which responsible post he resigned some five or six years since. He was an upright Judge, and honorable man, and a universally respected citizen.—Lowell Courier Nov. 11th.

☞ We acknowledge our obligations to Charles P. Roberts, Esq., the Secretary of the Railroad Meeting held on Saturday evening, for a copy of the proceedings, but in order to get through with our work on Saturday evening, we had prepared a brief account of the proceedings, which was in type before the Secretary's manuscript reached us. In our report, we stated that the motion of Mr. Boynton to instruct the committee to report as to the probable entire cost of the road was passed by the meeting, but it seems that the Chairman's declaration was that the motion was not sustained.

The statements made at the meeting by the Directors and others, show that the contract for building the entire road from Waterville to Dennett's Cove in Bangor, with all the station houses, is one million of dollars subject to two contingencies: 1st. That the Company pay all the land damages above ten thousand dollars: 2d That the Company pay all the excess in the cost of iron above fifty dollars a ton.—The additional expenditures of the Company are for depot grounds and buildings in this city, and for the engines, cars and furniture of the road. These items will probably swell the whole cost of the road when completed and furnished with ample depots, and everything required, to something approaching one million and a half of dollars, supposing everything to be upon a liberal and comprehensive scale.—This sum may not be reached, but suppose it is, and then the road is, comparatively, a cheap road, and will doubtless be a paying one. Some persons may not think so. Some persons thought the telegraph stock would not pay, but it does pay some fifteen per cent. The fact is, Bangor people are just the sort of folks to make use of these public improvements that hasten business, and they are willing to pay for the speed. The road will pay.

On the question of granting the loan of the credit of the city, the only real point is that of security. The amount is of comparatively less importance. The Railroad Company will soon be able to show that they can give abundant security for half a million, and this amount of the city's credit is all they ask for. With this they can get along and give the public the benefit of the road. Without this they cannot get along, and the enterprise must languish. The citizens of Bangor cannot afford to have it languish. They need the road and must have it, and all should go in for it with a liberal hand and a cheerful spirit.

☞ The agricultural journals in the State are now engaged in the discussion of the propriety and expediency of the farmers in the State holding a great convention at Augusta, sometime during the winter, for the purpose of promoting the interests of that great art. Such a convention will doubtless be held, and it can hardly happen that a great convention of farmers can be held without some good resulting from it, to themselves, their noble art and the general interests of the State.

There is too low an estimate made by farmers themselves of the great pursuit in which they are engaged, and too little effort is made to develop the capacities of the soil and climate of Maine. There is a want of enthusiasm, a lack of decided love of the business, and a deficiency in professional pride in regard to showing what can be done, and ought to be done, in farming. Farmers are too apt to regard their business as less prosperous, less attractive, less to be desired than most other pursuits and their homes are too apt to be erected under this view of the subject, whereas they ought to be, and may, with little cost, be made the most attractive and beautiful of any in all the land. Culture and taste and enterprise and love will do all this, and the boys will prefer staying at home to going to California or the world's end, and the girls will only be induced to leave, with the certainty of becoming the highest attraction within another beautiful home.

Farmers in Maine have been too much given to entering protests against the art they should heartily love, and against the soil the capacities of which they have not fully tested, and against the climate to which they have been unjust.

Farmers have tried to do too much in the direction of going over too much land, and too little in the way of thorough culture and in fruit raising.

The subject of the State establishing an experimental farm, we notice is to be urged. The Board of Agriculture tried this project with the legislature, last year, and failed. Their plan was too limited, absurdly so, and if the Board had been successful, the farm would have been too ridiculously stinted in its means to have proved satisfactory to any one.

The times are not up to creating a real and widely felt necessity for an experimental farm, and the efforts of farmers should be in other directions. We feel certain that a new era is soon to dawn on agricultural prospects in this vicinity—men of ability and capital are going into it systematically and earnestly to learn what can be done, and this will enable others to see what to do and how to do it, and some of these men will expend more in the fruit department alone than the Board of Agriculture proposed for the whole of the State farm.

☞ We would direct the attention of the reader to the advertisement in another column, of Mr. J. Robinson, in Stetson's Block, State street. He has just brought a very handsome lot of fruits and other matters for Thanksgiving, and among them the choicest selection of apples we have seen for a long time. It is really cheering to look upon them so nice and fair, blushing with beauty and tempting every way. Call in, good neighbors, for Mr. Robinson is a deserving man, and his enterprise and works do praise him.

☞ O'Donohue, the Irish patriot, undertook to lecture before the Irish Social Association, at Baltimore, on Monday night, but he was in such an excited state, and became so denunciatory in his remarks that the officers were compelled to silence him.

☞ The Boston Atlas state that Hon. Charles Atherton, U. S. Senator from New Hampshire was on Thursday last attacked with a paralytic stroke while in court and at the last accounts one side was paralyzed and he could not talk.

First recorded ascent of Mount St. Helens, in Oregon.

Our progress through the dense forest was necessarily slow and tedious. At one point one of our pack horses rolled down a steep precipice for several rods, where it would seem impossible for an animal, in doing so, to escape instant death. But upon releasing him from his burden and assisting him to rise, we found that he was not seriously hurt—our camp and cooking utensils appeared to suffer more injury than the horse.

On the second day, further progress with horses was found impracticable. Upon looking around we fortunately found a small patch of grass and camped. The next morning at break of day Messrs. Wilson, Smith, Drew and ourself, took three days' rations, together with such things as were deemed necessary to aid us in the ascent, and left the camp for the summit, distant about four miles in an air line. We found the route a continual steep ascent, with the exception of an occasional descent over a precipitant edge of rocks. About two miles from our camp we descended a high ledge to the bed of a small stream, which we followed until we struck the lava at the foot of the bare mountain—where vegetation ceases to make its appearance. The portion of this stream which we travelled has a fall of at least one thousand feet to the mile, and a much greater one higher up.

The appearance of the mountain upon a near approach is sublimely grand, and impossible to describe. The blackened piles of lava which were thrown into ridges hundreds of feet high in every imaginary shape, with an occasional high cliff of primitive formation, seeming to lift its head above and struggle to be released from its compressed position, impress the mind of the beholder with the power of Omnipotence, and the insignificance of human power when compared with nature's God. Above all stands a tower of eternal rock and snow, apparently stretching its high head far above the clouds and looking down with disdain upon all beneath. The glaring sunbeams upon the "snows of a thousand winters" serve by contrast to make the immense piles of lava appear blacker than they otherwise would.

We commenced the ascent at once on the south side, by climbing up the cliffs of lava towards a small cluster of spruce trees which stand a short distance from the line of perpetual snow. After several hours' hard toil we reached this point, and finding a few sticks of dry wood, kindled a fire, and made our camp for the night. We here supplied ourselves with water by melting snow. We found the night cold and extremely uncomfortable—our party did not find much repose, and as the eastern sky commenced to show the approach of day, we left the camp and pursued our way upward. The higher we ascended the more difficult our progress. Suffice it to say, that by constant and persevering effort, we were enabled to reach the highest pinnacle of the mountain soon after meridian. The atmosphere produced a singular effect upon all the party; each face looked pale and sallow, and all complained of a strange ringing in the ears. It appeared as if there were hundreds of fine toned bells ringing all around us. Blood started from our nose, and all of us found respiration difficult. With this exception we all felt well. It would be futile to attempt to give our readers a correct idea of the appearance of the vast extent of country visible from the top of this mountain. The ocean, distant over one hundred miles, was plainly seen. The whole Coast and Cascade ranges of mountains could be plainly traced with the naked eye. The snow-covered peaks of Mts. Hood, Ranier and two others, seemed close by. These form a sort of amphitheatre on a large scale, diversified with hills and valleys.

The crater has been represented to be on the south-west side of the mountain, which is not the case. We took the bearing from the top with a compass, and found it to be on the north-east side. The smoke was continually issuing from its mouth, giving unmistakeable evidence that the fire was not extinguished. There is much more snow on the north than on the south side; on the latter it is bare in spots, while on the former it is hundreds of feet deep. We examined fissures in the snow several rods across, which extended a great length along the side of the mountain; and on throwing a stone down, heard it strike a long distance from us.

After spending sufficient time to see what was to be seen, and building a pyramid of loose stones on the highest spot of level earth and ashes, we commenced our descent, and reached our camp at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, tired and worn out in body and boots. At dark we reached the timber, and encamped for the night. The next morning we left our encampment on the mountain for home, which we reached in four days.

There is but little good tillage land on the route we traversed. We passed two very good prairies of sufficient extent for several claims on each, but with these exceptions, and an occasional small tract of bottom land, we saw nothing inviting to an agriculturist. The timber is large and stands very thick until near the mountain where it becomes more scrubby. In cutting our names upon trees near the snow line, we found the bark of the spruce fully an inch in thickness, while in the low lands it was scarcely one-fourth as thick.

We have only to add that we are fully satisfied with our trip, and are willing hereafter to let others explore mountains; while we will devote our time to matters requiring less labor, and fraught with more of the comforts of life, than we have experienced in this trip to the top of Mount St. Helens!—Oregonian.

PREMIUM OF $500 FOR A WORK ON PEACE.

A premium of five hundred dollars from an aged friend is hereby offered, to be awarded to the author of the best approved treatise of not less than 300 nor more than 400 pages, defined by the donor as follows:

"THE RIGHT WAY"

OF THE COVER [illegible] TO THE INTERCOURSE OF INDIVIDUALS AND NATIONS.

"To secure this award, the treatise must inculcate on families, on neighbors, on the rising generation, and on all who have intercourse, the spirit of kindness, the duty of revering justice and doing RIGHT, and always endeavoring to avoid contention and to maintain peaceful relations in opposition to revenge or retaliation, or being governed by prejudice, passion, popular opinion, or false honor. After enlarging on these points and enforcing prominently the duty of always doing right or according to God's revealed will, the idea must be made to stand out in bold relief, that rulers are as solemnly accountable to God, and as sacredly bound by his requirements, or to do right, as the humblest citizens; and that all should be deeply concerned to treat other nations, or individuals of other nations, right, or according to the principles of benevolence.

"Said treatise must also show, that as individuals in civilized communities have taken measures to have their difficulties settled without resorting to physical violence, so nations ought to make arrangements by which their difficulties may be adjusted with reference to right and justice, and not by an appeal to arms, which in ordinary cases will give the victory to the strongest or the most crafty, without any reference to justice: show that nothing but perverseness prevents the nations from settling their difficulties by legal process; and that humanity and religion as imperiously demand that powerful nations should settle their difficulties by legal process, and not by the sword, as feeble ones, or states, or counties; bring to view the expense which the war spirit imposes on the United States and Europe in time of peace: press the idea that nothing is truly honorable in an individual or nation which is not right or in accordance with the will of God.

"It must concede, rather incidentally, that defensive war is admissible, but must show that the custom, usage, or institution of war, or war in general, is wholly unchristian. It must portray the evils of war, as seen in its enormous expense, its fearful destruction of property, its disregard of private and public justice, its wanton waste of human life, its fostering the foulest passions, often assimilating men to demons, its disastrous influence on the morals of individuals and communities, its tendency to impede the progress of the gospel, and consequently its destructive influence on the immortal interests of men. If war is contrary to the religion of Him who came to proclaim 'peace on earth,' it is not only wrong, but an enormous wrong, and it generally results, as a distinguished statesman has said, in seeing which party can do the other the most harm. Show that after all the waste of blood and treasure, war never settles the difficulty, but leaves that still to be settled by negotiation or treaty. Show that the halo of glory which most poets and historians throw about successful warriors, whether they are right or wrong, debases our literature and has a pernicious effect on the rising generation by enkindling a military spirit, and thus tending to excite false notions of honor—such notions as God abhors—and thereby to demoralize the conscience, and lead men to admire and pursue a course which the Bible condemns. The volume must be a safe and instructive companion at the religious fireside, and tend to make all serious Christians more deeply feel and more highly estimate the value of evangelical piety.

As a means of avoiding war, must be urged the duty of nations to submit their difficulties to arbitration, or an umpire, and to include an article to that effect in their treaties with one another. The idea is finally to be brought into view, that as nothing but a wrong spirit would prevent individuals or a group of men cast on a desolate shore from endeavoring to make arrangements by which their difficulties should be settled without shedding of blood or violence, so nothing but a wrong spirit prevents nations from making similar arrangements. If arbitration is not the best method, how soon would a right temper make an arrangement for a congress of nations to establish wholesome laws for the regulation of their intercourse, and a court of nations to decide finally, on principles of law and equity, and not by the sword, the difficulties that should exist.

"The whole must be treated so in accordance with the gospel as to make the volume a suitable addition to the 'Evangelical Family Library.' It must be intimated that the day will probably come, as correct principles prevail, when it will be deemed a vastly higher honor for a nation to have been the first to propose a scheme effectually to stay the effusion of blood, than for an individual to have invented the cotton-gin, to have floated successfully the first steamboat, or to have made the lightning so subservient to human agency, that men separated by oceans or continents may familiarly converse together. Such other topics may be introduced as are calculated to make individual broils or national wars appear grossly unchristian. Let it be shown, as we are assured, that war will cease as certainly as idolatry, and that as friends of the human race we are called to use the means of delivering the world from the horrors of war, as well as the debasement of idolatry.

"Show that a special application of the gospel, or special efforts, are as necessary to abolish war as the slave trade or intemperance, or to promote the cause of Missions; and that nothing but special effort has drawn the community to a due consideration of either of these objects. Show further, that this cause may well claim the prayers of Christians, and the labors of the pulpit and the press, and that the state of feeling on this subject would soon become far more healthful if our 3000 periodicals and our 20,000 pastors, or half, or a quarter of them should, as might be hoped, become decided advocates of this cause, or even one-fourth of those who profess to be governed by religious principles."

The above premium is to be awarded by a committee consisting of Rev. Joseph W. Parker, D. D. of Cambridge, Mass., Hon. William J. Hubbard of Boston, and Rev. Asa D. Smith, D. D. of New York; and the aged friend has pledged a further sum sufficient to perpetuate the circulation of said volume in the "Evangelical Family Library" of the American Tract Society. Manuscripts may be presented until January 1, 1855, and may be addressed (post paid,) to Rev. Seth Bliss, 28 Cornhill, Boston, or to William A. Hallock, 150 Nassau street, New York.

☞ Capt. Watson, of bark Sultana, at Smyrna, 15 ult. for Boston in 2 or 3 days, writes that Kosta will come home with him.

Gen. Cass has met with another painful affliction in the death of his favorite grandchild, Lizzy Canfield, daughter of Captain Canfield, at the age of ten years. She was well in the evening, reading a book, yet that same night Cass was awakened with the terrible intelligence that she was dying, and before daybreak she had breathed her last.

The following is from the principal accountant of the wealthy and highly respectable house of Messrs. Voris & Bro, of this city, and presents one of the MOST WONDERFUL CURES in the annals of medical history:

"Mr. H. G. Farrell—Dear Sir: Actuated by a sense of gratefulness, I submit the following as an instance of the utility of your great medicine. My child, three years old, was suddenly attacked with a terrible disease, which in less than six hours prostrated it to total helplessness. The limbs became so rigid that not a joint could be bent; the flesh turned black and cold and entirely deprived of feeling; the eyes fixed, partially closed, and altogether blind; following this was deafness to all sounds; the spine became contracted, and so curved that when lying on its back the head and heels only touched. Indeed, the child presented every appearance of being dead. Immediately on the attack the family physician was called in, and for three weeks he labored to restore it to feeling, but all in vain, although it was blistered a dozen times, and various rubefacient liniments applied. A consultation of physicians was then held, but to no purpose; the case was then brought before the Medical Society, but nothing could be suggested which had not already been done, and the doctor then told me he could do nothing more. We then commenced applying your Liniment freely over the entire length of the spine, and you may imagine a parent's joy, when, after a few applications, returning animation was apparent, and it rapidly recovered with the exception of the sight, which did not become perfect for near a month. The child is now healthy and robust as can be. Five other cases of the same kind occurred previously in my neighborhood, all of which died, when there is no doubt if your Liniment had been used they would have recovered.

A HARD LUMP ON A HORSES BREAST.

Mr. H. G. Farrell—I have used your Arabian Liniment with gratification in several cases, the most remarkable of which was a large lump that appeared on my horse's breast. It was very hard, appearing to be hard gristle. It remained for nearly a year, when I applied your Liniment, one bottle of which entirely cured it. I can recommend it as the best Liniment I ever used. JOHN CRAWL.

LOOK OUT FOR COUNTERFEITS.

The public are cautioned against another counterfeit, which has lately made its appearance, called W. B. Farrell's Arabian Liniment, the most dangerous of all the counterfeits, because his having the name of Farrell, many will buy it in good faith, without the knowledge that a counterfeit exists, and they will perhaps only discover their error when the spurious mixture has wrought its evil effects.

The genuine article is manufactured only by H. G. Farrell, sole inventor and proprietor, and wholesale druggist, No. 17 Main Street, Peoria, Illinois, to whom all applications for Agencies must be addressed. Be sure you get it with the letters H. G. before Farrell's, thus—H. G. FARRELL'S—and his signature on the wrappers, all others are counterfeits.

Sold by INGRAHAM & FULLER, wholesale and retail, Bangor. Also by R. F. Kinsell, Oldtown. French & Hamilton, Dexter. Geo. Parcher, Ellsworth. P. O. Flaherty, Houlton. And by regularly authorized agents throughout the United States.

☞ Price 25 and 50 cents, and $1 per bottle.

Consols had advanced 2 per cent. since the sailing of the America, a strongly pacific indication.

The Turks crossed the Danube unmolested.

It was rumored that an armistice had been agreed upon. Reports are, however, very contradictory.

Massachusetts State Election.

BOSTON HAS SPOKEN—GREAT WHIG GAIN—THE NEW CONSTITUTION DOUBTLESS DEFEATED—PROBABLY NO CHOICE OF GOVERNOR.

BOSTON, November 14th.

In Boston, the vote in all the wards but one, foot up, for Governor, Washburn, (Whig) 7173; Bishop, (Democrat) 2350; Wilson, (Free Soil) 1311; Wales, (National Democrat) 766.

On the acceptance of the proposed new Constitution, the vote stands: yeas 3220, nays 8888.

Six Whig Senators and forty-four Whig Representatives chosen in Suffolk county.

Twenty or thirty towns heard from show a Whig gain on the Governor and a large majority against the new constitution.

The friends of the proposed constitution acknowledge its defeat. There will probably be no choice of Governor by the people.

LATER.

Returns from about sixty towns show a large Whig gain. The proposed new Constitution is defeated. No choice of Governor by the people. The Legislature will be largely Whig, but probably not a majority over the Opposition.

☞ John W. Garnsey, Esq., keeper of the Bangor House, died last evening, after a severe sickness, aged forty-one years. He has led an active life, first in mercantile business, then for a long number of years, as Steamboat Agent, and for some time past, as keeper of the Bangor House. He has been cut down in the midst of his years—at the noon of life, and leaves a wife and several children. His presence will be missed among business men, with whom he has associated so long.

LOVETT'S WAHPENE

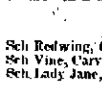

Will, without doubt, change GREY HAIR to its original color; cure Baldness, remove all Scurf and Dandruff, and other diseases of the Hair and Scalp.

CAUTION!!

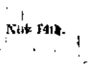

I caution the public against buying an article called "Improved Wahpene," for Lovett's. The said article has been got up, and the name "pirated", to deceive the public and injure the Proprietor of the true "Wahpene", thinking to get off his spurious article under the wide spread reputation of Lovett's. GEO. W. EMERSON, Druggist, No. 4 Smith's Block, is my only authorized agent in Bangor, of whom the genuine Wahpene may be obtained at wholesale or retail, at my prices. H. T. LOVETT, N. Y., Proprietor.

SEYMOUR'S GALVANIC
ABDOMINAL SUPPORTER.

THIS apparatus possesses all the mechanical advantages of the Abdominal Supporters now in use, and also some valuable improvements beside the galvanic attachment. It has been tested, approved of, and universally adopted in the practice of all the leading Physicians in New York, Boston, and all other places where introduced, in the treatment of all Nervous diseases which exhibit themselves under so many different heads, and particularly in the cure of Uterine difficulties. The beneficial results which have uniformly attended the use of this instrument are a sufficient guaranty of its utility and general application. The advantages of this over other Supporters are, it cures by its Galvanic action, presents a smooth surface that does not retain heat or impurities which pass from the system, and can be kept pure and healthful.

The attention of the medical profession is respectfully solicited to an examination and test of the instrument. The above Supporters are for sale by GEO. W. EMERSON, Druggist, No. 4 Smith's Block, sole agent for Bangor and vicinity.

Gas Piping AND FIXTURES.

THE subscribers having secured the continued services of their Gas Fitters, are prepared to execute orders for Piping Churches, Halls, Houses, Offices, and Stores, in the most workmanlike manner.

All work will be tested with a force-pump, and warranted Gas-tight.

Our prices will, for the present, remain the same as last year, notwithstanding Fitters in Boston and Portland have advanced with the recent rise in iron, copper, &c.

The following certificate will speak for itself to those interested FENNO & HALE, m25 24 Main Street.

BANGOR, March 20, 1853.

To whom it may concern.—The undersigned having witnessed the excellent and very satisfactory manner in which GAS PIPE and GAS FIXTURES have been put up in this city by Messrs. Fenno & Hale, do cordially recommend them to those of our fellow citizens who design to introduce Gas the coming season into their Houses or Stores, and who wish their work done by competent workmen, and in the best manner.

DR. HAMPTON'S
VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

This article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by Dr. Jason Hampton, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 70th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the best family medicine in use; and is warranted free from all mineral substances. By its mild action on the Stomach, Liver and Kidneys, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all Chronic Complaints, as with all diseases arising from Impure Blood. As a Female Medicine it has no equal. It will change the complexion from a pale to a blooming one.

Dyspepsia, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial and Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Bowel Complaint, Worms, and Nervous Debility,

Green Mountain Vegetable

CEMENT.

BROKEN China, Glass, Earthen Ware, and Fancy Articles, of every description, repaired and mended, making it as strong as before broken, without injuring its appearance.

This Cement, which has been proved to be of great strength, will be found particularly useful in every family; the simple manner of its application is alone a recommendation. The adhesive property which it contains is so wonderful that many things will rather break in a fresh place than where they have been mended with it. The variety of purposes for which it may be used are so numerous that it would be difficult to recite them. Its success in mending Glass, China, &c., is extraordinary, no ordinary degree of heat affecting it, and as the joints are scarcely perceptible, articles of this kind may be made useful for years, which otherwise would have been cast away.

SMOOTHING IRON!

MANY important improvements have been made since the beginning of the present century relieving and facilitating the labor of men by machinery and other modern implements but few less have been nearly neglected until the introduction of the Patent Self Heating Smoothing Iron which will relieve them, in a very great degree from the excessive and fatiguing labor of Ironing besides being a great saving of time and expense This Iron combines economy, convenience, saving of labor and despatch, one cent's worth of dry charcoal supplies fuel for a whole days' constant ironing Hard wood coal from the stove will answer the same purpose It can be used in any room or in the open air Letters and Tailors' Irons are constructed upon the same principle and possess equal superiority

NOW READY:

The New Methodist Singing Book!

LUTE OF ZION,

By I B. Woodbury assisted by Rev H. Mattison, Pastor of the John Street Methodist Church

IT comprises nearly one Thousand pieces of the choicest Music including almost every old tune of any merit ever published, it represents some two hundred of the finest composers the world ever saw and contains every variety of meter now in use, with copious indexes to every part The LUTE is therefore held with truth to be an almost exhaustless mine of the richest Sacred Musical Treasures ever presented to the public Glowing with the animation and burning zeal of the community for which it is designed the Lute is nevertheless equally adapted to the Hymn Books of all denominations of Christians Of Mr Woodbury's last Book the Dulcimer, have been issued since its appearance three years ago, and still the demand is on the increase Is any further evidence needed of the admiration in which he is held as a Composer to be desired?

OVER 150,000 COPIES

From the enthusiasm with which the LUTE has already been greeted a reception similar to that meted to the Dulcimer is confidently expected

Any professional musician desiring a copy of either the Lute or Dulcimer for examination can have it sent to him free of postage by remitting 60 cent to the Publisher

TESTIMONIALS

The following certificate from Dr John C Warren, of Boston was given 17 years since, but will last forever

Boston, Jan 5 1853.

Having had occasion to observe that some persons afflicted with Hernia have suffered much from the want of a skilful workman in accommodating Trusses to the peculiarities of their cases I have taken pains to inform myself of the competency of Mr J F Foster to supply the deficiency occasioned by the death of Mr Beath—After some months of observation of his work I am well satisfied that Mr Foster is well acquainted with the manufacture of these instruments and ingenious in accommodating to the variety of cases which occur I feel called upon to recommend him to my professional brethren, and to the public as a person well fitted to supply their wants in regard to these important articles

JOHN C WARREN, M D

The undersigned take great pleasure in recommending to the favorable consideration of those who are unhappily afflicted with Hernia, Mr James Frederick Foster as a skilful and competent person in the manufacture and fitting of Trusses We have employed him (some of us over twenty years) and therefore speak from personal knowledge of his abilities His early advantages his long experience in the business and the large number of individuals whom he has relieved in a variety of cases, render him, in our opinion equal, if not superior to any manufacturer of the article His father Dea G Foster, of Charlestown, was master of the Poor House in that town for upwards of twenty four years during which period Mr Foster availed himself of the opportunity, and made application of Trusses to a great variety of cases with great success, some of which were of a very complicated and distressing character

It is well known to all who have occasion to wear a Truss that its greatest ill is its constant displacement of the body at the same time relieving the patient Any ordinary mechanic may make a Truss but none but a skilful practitioner can apply it in such manner as effectually and oftentimes radically cure the complaint

Our experience has convinced us that Mr Foster has thoroughly attained this knowledge The certificate of Dr J C Warren, and other eminent surgeons with whom he has shown to us, fully sustain the opinion we here express

AMERICAN ANODYNE LINIMENT

For Internal and External Use

THIS wonderful Medicine has ever established itself publicly as the best remedy of the day for the cure of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Spinal affections, Sprains, Bruises, Sore Throat, Lame Back, Lame Side, Cramp in the Stomach, Cholic, Piles &c by a combined internal and external application This Anodyne cannot fail to certain and speedy cure The proprietor can produce volumes of testimonials in its favor, but prefers to let it carry its own recommendation as it has done for some years past We ask a trial from those who have been unsuccessful in other remedies It combines several of the most penetrating healing specifics known to the medical profession — The inventor of this article was in the constant successful practice of medicine for more than twenty years

This is to certify that having been troubled for a number of years with a diseased leg, and being entirely lame and recommended to take the last stage of consumption, I was to all appearance in the last stage of consumption My legs swelled so that I was unable to stand or help myself At that time your Liniment was recommended to me and by the use of three or four bottles I was entirely cured and have since been able to labor every day I have also for the last twenty years been subject to severe attacks of bloody dysentery and have found any permanent relief until I tried your Liniment since which I have had no return of the complaint. I can truly say I think your Anodyne Liniment was the means of saving my life. JOHN I ATKINS

Brewer Sept 29, 1852.

Dr Johnson Dear Sir—In consequence of having a fever sore on my leg it became entirely stiff at the knee and it was decided by the best surgeons that my leg must be amputated—but fortunately I heard of your Anodyne Liniment and by using three bottles my leg was limbered and strengthened and for a number of years I have been able to use it about as well as the other I consider myself indebted to the use of your Liniment for the blessing of Providence for the use of my leg, and I would say to others who may need help in this way try it, and no doubt you will be cured
